1. BACKGROUND

1.1 Preparation of report

This report has been prepared by Southern Cross University (“SCU”) for provision to SCU students for consultation with SCU students.

1.2 Current student representation

SCU currently has 4 student associations:

- LEXSA (Lismore and External Students Association) Incorporated NSW INC9891828, ABN 79 216 280 715 (“Lexus”);
- Southern Cross University Coffs Harbour Students’ Association Incorporated NSW Y2333440, ABN 44 732 282 288 (“Coffs SA”);
- CoastRs Incorporated NSW INC9886929, ABN 47 919 544 221 (“CoastRs”); and
- CRUX (Southern Cross University Postgraduate Student Association) Incorporated NSW INC9880357 ABN 16 447 031 300 (“Crux”) – NB: SCU ceased its affiliation with Crux on 31 May 2012.

1.3 Reasons for alternate student governance structure

SCU wants to implement an alternate student governance structure due to the concerns that SCU has with the existing student association structure, the need for SCU to comply with new legislation, and to address concerns that have been raised by students in a recent survey.

a) Problems with existing student association representation

In any student association model, it is critical that the student voice is truly represented, engaged with the university, and active with the student community. In the current environment, student representation has a number of issues as follows:

- i. organisational maturity varies greatly across groups;
- ii. duplication of administrative capacity across the groups means more dollars are expended on carrying out similar tasks at multiple points; and
- iii. difficulty in truly accessing the student voice on key governance, service and policy matters by SCU.

Overall, however, the biggest concern that SCU has is the value that SCU and students alike currently receive in this environment.

b) Legislative change

A further reason for SCU to implement a new student governance model has arisen as a result of the Commonwealth Government passing, in October 2012, the Higher Education Support Act 2003 (Cth) (“the Act”). The Act enables Universities to levy an annual services and amenities fee (“SAAF”) to facilitate the provision of specific non-academic and non-political services that will support and enrich the student experience. The Student Services, Amenities, Representation and Advocacy Guidelines (“Guidelines”) were made pursuant to the Act. The Guidelines set out the National Access to Services Benchmarks (“Services Benchmarks”) and the National Student Representation Protocols (“Representation Protocols”).

The Services Benchmarks state that higher education providers must consider the varying and differing circumstances of the enrolled student body in determining what would be a reasonable and appropriate level of support at a particular campus, considering factors such as student cohort and campus location (2.2.5 of the Services Benchmarks).

The Representation Protocols are aimed at ensuring transparent and equitable representation for students in the SAAF environment and state that higher education providers must provide enrolled students with the opportunity to participate in a process to democratically elect student representatives. Student representatives must be students enrolled at the relevant higher education provider and must be elected by students, with at least one representative elected from each of undergraduate students, postgraduate students and overseas students (international onshore). In meeting this obligation, higher education providers must meet the necessary and reasonable cost of conducting valid and transparent polls for this purpose (3.2.3 of the Representation Protocols).

Higher Education Providers are to be compliant with the Services Benchmarks and Representation Protocols by January 2013.

c) Feedback from students in SAAF Survey

SCU has approved a SAAF schedule and will charge the fee from Session 2 in 2012.

In March 2012, SCU conducted an online SAAF Survey (“Survey”) to give students the opportunity to provide advice about the services and amenities they see as most important. The Survey required students to prioritise funding across a total of nineteen legislated spending areas.

The results of the Survey have now been collated by the University, and were discussed with the existing student associations at a meeting on 14 May 2012, and then made available to all students on the SCU website from 15 May 2012.

The results of the Survey indicated (amongst other things) that external students do not consider that it is fair that they have to pay SAAF and that international students have identified different spending priorities to other student cohorts.

SCU is concerned about the extent of student discomfort with SAAF, and about international student spending priorities, and wants to do everything within its power to ensure that students are sufficiently consulted with in relation to SAAF spending.

1.4 Consultation with students about alternate governance model

On 14 May 2012, representatives from SCU’s Student Services group (including Professor Andrew McAuley) met with representatives of the 4 existing student associations to discuss the results of the SAAF Survey and to indicate that SCU intended to send an email poll to all external and international students to determine whether they wanted their own separate student representative bodies.

On 18 May 2012, SCU emailed all enrolled external and international students at SCU to ask them whether they wanted their own student representative bodies. This email poll was open for students to respond until 28 May 2012.

As part of the email poll to external and international students, the existing student associations were provided with an opportunity to insert their own background information / counter-narrative to be sent as part of the e-mail poll. One of the four existing student associations chose to insert words surrounding their own perspective.

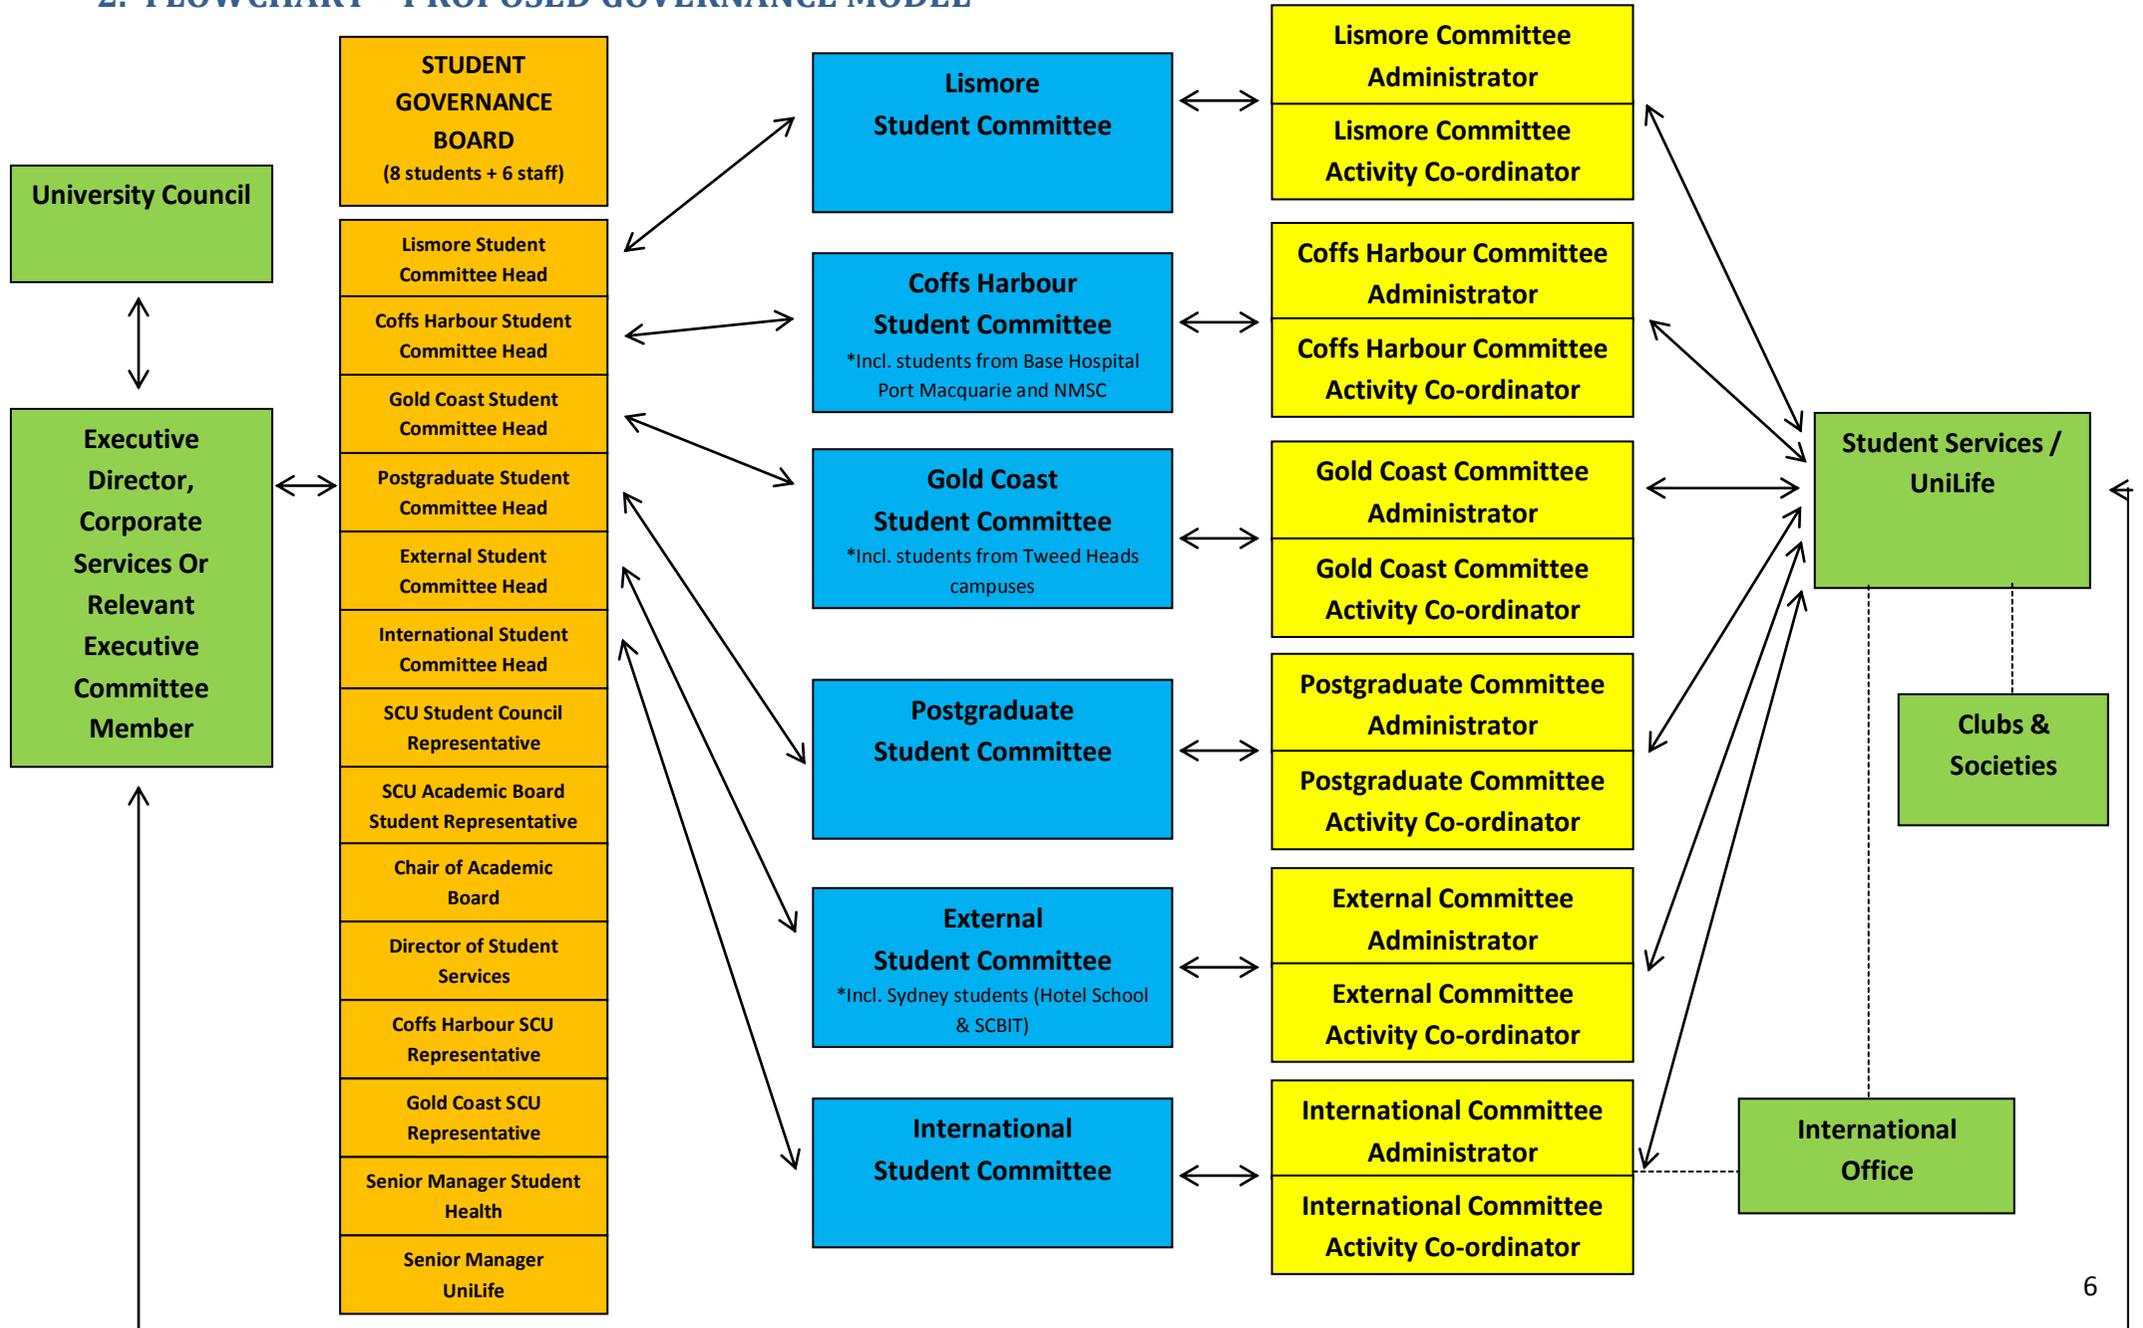

The results of the email poll to external and international students indicate that they want their own separate representative bodies. SCU therefore proposes that this alternate student governance structure be presented to the student body.

SCU will then consult with the student body in relation to the alternate student governance structure.

Parts 2-5 of this reports set out the proposed alternate student governance structure.

Part 6 of this report sets out the proposed process for new student committee elections.
