STRATEGIC PLAN
2011 – 2015
Southern Cross University

Southern Cross University originated from the Lismore Teachers College (1970), later the Northern Rivers College of Advanced Education (1973) and was formally established as an independent university on 1 January, 1994.

Today, Southern Cross University has grown considerably, with students studying on-campus, off-campus, or with one of our educational collaborators in Australia or overseas. We welcome students from more than 80 countries around the world.

We offer a comprehensive range of undergraduate and postgraduate courses across the arts and sciences, and business and law faculties. We focus on delivering professional and contemporary courses supported by high quality, responsive and personalised learning experiences. Many of our students enjoy the flexibility of external study options in a range of courses.

We undertake research in specialised areas, leading the way in plant science, geoscience, tourism, leisure and work, children and young people, gambling education, marine ecology, environmental innovations, coastal biogeochemistry and regional futures.

The University continues to be an active participant in our regions, engaging with our communities for mutual benefit and contributing to a more sustainable future.

Our campuses

Lismore – comprehensive course offerings and specialist facilities for visual arts and contemporary music, and world-leading research expertise in the environmental sciences.

Gold Coast Tweed – newly consolidated campus (opened in 2010) with expanding offerings across a range of disciplines, including tourism, education, business, law and allied health courses.

Coffs Harbour – part of the Coffs Harbour Education Campus (CHEC), with growing strengths in psychology research and a strong focus on programs leading to professional qualifications of regional relevance. World-class marine science teaching and research facilities are located at the National Marine Science Centre.

Vice Chancellor’s Message

Southern Cross University is growing: more students, more world-leading research and deepening connections with our communities. However, we must properly plan for this growth. This is why the Strategic Plan 2011 – 2015 is important. It guides our internal planning processes, the decisions we need to make and the priorities we need to identify.

Professor Peter Lee FTSE
Vice Chancellor
Vision

Strategic Plan Implementation
The Strategic Plan 2011 – 2015 is at the apex of the University’s planning cycle, driving the University-wide functional plans and the other operational plans. The Strategic Plan will be implemented by:

• The University-wide plans for Learning and Teaching, and Research and Research Training and the other functional Plans supporting these core priorities.

• The University’s commitment to continuous improvement.

• Setting of annual targets to measure progress against the performance indicators.

• The annual formal University review.

Operational plans are developed on a rolling three-year basis and are informed by the Strategic and functional plans.

Reporting on progress
The Vice Chancellor reports to the University Council yearly on progress against the University-wide key performance indicators (KPIs) and targets.

There is an annual formal review of University performance against the KPIs and targets. This ensures that University Executive and senior managers analyse performance at a work-unit level to maintain a focus on priority areas and to identify areas needing improvement.

The University continues to participate in a range of external benchmarking processes. Examples include the Association of Commonwealth Universities benchmarking program; the Tertiary Education Facilities Management Association (TEFMA) and Sustainability Advantage.
Goal 1: We will provide inspirational learning experiences for our students through high quality teaching engaged with scholarship.
